Dr. Jacqueline L. Sanderlin

CABE 2025 Keynote Speaker

Dr. Jacqueline Sanderlin is an accomplished educator, author and international speaker. She is the author of The Why Not Challenge: Say Yes to Success with School-Community Partnerships. For more than 30 years, she has worked in the most challenging school districts in Southern California. She has forged over 350 community partnerships with companies across the US to make a difference for youth. Her work was featured on The Ellen DeGeneres Show, which led to the creation of NBC's reality show, School Pride. It focused on rebuilding dilapidated schools and creating a more positive climate for students. Her goal is to empower and challenge leaders to ask the question...Why not?

Keynote Workshop: Building the 5 C's: Community, collaboration, capacity, connection and creativity!

Description:

As we reflect on our past and look to the future, this moment calls for us to come together, learn together, and move forward together. As a collective, we have the potential to create change, but it requires that we take intentional steps toward building a sense of community in every space that we occupy. Dr. Jackie will take participants on a journey of how to authentically build community, collaboration, capacity, connection and creativity between each other and those we impact every day. Get ready to RISE!
